

METHOD TO PERFORM A SCHEDULED ACTION OF NETWORK DEVICES

5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

10 A method to perform a scheduled action of network devices that are connected via a network comprises calculating an individual triggering time for every device that should perform a predetermined action at a predetermined time. This individual triggering time is calculated based on the synchronous start time of said respective scheduled action and an individual start-up time of the respective device participating in the scheduled action.